

KITCHEN TABLE

TALKS

COLORS OF CHARACTER

April 20, 2021 at 6:00PM CST

MODERATOR

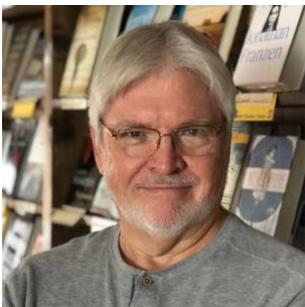

Rev. Ralph Basui Watkins is the Peachtree Professor of Evangelism and Church Growth at Columbia Seminary. His work focuses on building bridges between young adults and the church in order to develop future leaders for the twenty-first-century church who work for justice. As a scholar, professional photographer, documentarian, pastor, sought-after speaker, and workshop leader Dr. Watkins seeks to help the churches live into the new networked world. Dr. Watkins is also television producer and documentarian. His show Talk it Out with Dr. Ralph Basui Watkins was one of the top-rated shows on the Atlanta Interfaith Broadcasting network for over four years.

PANELISTS

Steve Skipper is the first African American artist to do sanctioned and officially licensed Artwork for the University of Alabama, Auburn University, the Dallas Cowboys, NASCAR, the Professional Bull Riders, the PGA, as well as the Green Bay Packers. He was personally chosen by University of Alabama Head Football Coach Nick Saban to enter into contract with him as Official and endorsed Artist for his first National Championship Commemorative Paintings and Limited Editions.

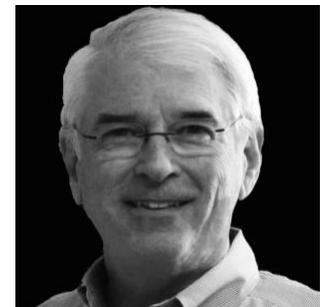

With formal commissions from the Davey Allison Estate, Bobby Allison Enterprises, Coach Ray Perkins, the late Derrick Thomas, the late Earl Woods, Jim Dent, Hale Irwin, Ozzie Newsome, Nick Saban, Doug Williams and the Dallas Cowboys Jason Witten, to name a few. Steve has been blessed to have his work included in the fine art collections of George Landegger of New York, famed Comedian Bill Cosby and Mr. and Mrs Harry Belafonte. Truly one of the most illustrious Art careers in Fine Art history.

Don Keith, producer, writer and president of Fig Tree Media, is an award-winning and best-selling author, journalist, broadcaster, and filmmaker. He has published more than 35 books, was twice named Billboard Magazine "Radio Personality of the Year," and his book "Hunter Killer" was a major motion picture starring Gerard Butler and Gary Oldman. Don's writing has appeared in American Legion Magazine, The Washington Post, and The Irish Times. Don is the author of the book on which Colors of Character is based: "Dream On: A Journey to Deliverance"

Chris Danielson, CCO of Fig Tree Media, is a storyteller's storyteller! Chris is an accomplished filmmaker and award-winning scriptwriter. With over 35 years of experience as a performer, he has hosted radio and TV programs across the country, performed stand-up comedy in hundreds of venues, and exceeded far too many events to mention. He has been responsible for countless compelling and award-winning branding campaigns, published two books, and is an accomplished director for both short- and long-form documentaries.

Warren Callaway is a former health care executive and now CEO of Fig Tree Media. He became involved in film by way of a full-length documentary based on work he did in East Africa and has continued to develop considerable skills in both cinematography and editing. He has taken his camera all over the world with a goal of bringing both triumph and tragedy of the human spirit back to audiences at home. His focus on faith-based topics reflects his desire to be a visual storyteller. Callaway boasts having filmed worship in eleven different languages. His recent focus has been on the Middle East where he has recorded the crisis among Syrian refugees.

Colors of Character: An Artist's Journey to Redemption* was created and produced by Fig Tree Media. Watch the trailer and find streaming platforms at colorsofcharactermovie.com.